

BLUEGRASS CAMP

2007

For guitar, banjo, singers, bass, mandolin, violin and anyone else who would like to play!

This is an opportunity to develop not only your solo instrumental skills, but also your ability to adapt and play as a group along with a number of other musicians and instruments all in the bluegrass style. Directed by Dan Cunningham, who not only teaches at the Canadian Conservatory, but also was the host of the Bluegrass Songwriter's Circle at the ECMA's this year.

What you can expect at the Bluegrass Camp:

- Daily warm-ups and demos
- Students will work on their individual skills each morning
- Afternoon you will be forming groups and learn to play songs together
- Vocal harmonies are also covered during the camp which are a fixture in bluegrass
- Final concert will be held at a local venue on Friday

Last day to register for this camp is June 1st, 2007.

Have a question? Call or visit online at:

Ph: 506 631.0884

www.canadianconservatory.com

BLUEGRASS CAMP

July 9 - 13, 2007

10am- 3pm, Monday to Friday

WHERE:

The Canadian Conservatory of Music
569 Rothesay Avenue, Saint John, NB

COST:

Conservatory Members	$250
Non-members	$275
Family Rate for two or more participants	$225

TO REGISTER:

Call the Saint John Branch of the Canadian Conservatory at:
631.0884

or pre-register online:

www.canadianconservatory.com

You will be required to pay a non-refundable deposit of $100.00 at the time you register. Program is offered at the Saint John Conservatory location only.